Report of Workshop on POCSO Law

Date – 4/11/2023

On October 23, 2023, the PDEA's Law College organised a one-day legal aid camp at Village Waghapur, Taluka Purandar, District Pune. In this camp, a one-day workshop was organised with the aim of creating awareness among the boys and girls of the eighth, ninth, and tenth classes of the school in Waghapur village. The workshop was about POCSO law. What is POCSO? What is sexual abuse and exploitation? How do you recognise that you are being sexually assaulted? What should we do if such an event occurs to us? How do you firmly reject someone while facing such situations? Many more matters were discussed in this workshop with boys and girls. The main objective of the workshop was to create awareness among children about sexual abuse and inform them about the POCSO law, which helps them fight against abuse.

About the Seminar :

"RIGHT TO HEALTH : ISSUES AND CHALLENGES IN INDIA"

The Pune District Education Association's Law College is organizing a State Level Seminar on 'Right to Health' on 06th April 2024. The Indian health care system has witnessed immense growth in recent years. While these developments in medical infrastructure and the industry offer better potential of quality healthcare, they also raise complex legal questions concerning access, malpractice, and accountability. The aim of this national seminar is to bring together legal scholars, medical professionals, jurists, academicians, policymakers, students and others interested in the field to critically examine the responsibility of law and medicine. This discourse aims to spark a nationwide conversation, paving the way for a future where patient well-being, equity, quality, legal frameworks ensure justice, and healthcare is accessible to all.

Cardiovascular diseases, cancers, chronic respiratory diseases, diabetes, and other NCDs are estimated to account for 60% of all deaths in India, making them the leading cause of death ahead of injuries and communicable, maternal, prenatal and nutritional conditions.

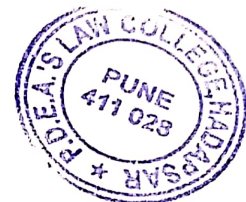

Close to 60 to 70 million people in the country suffer from chronic and severe mental disorders. India is the world's fourth largest country with over 2.6 lakh cases of suicide in a year. WHO statistics say the average suicide rate in India is 10.9 for every lakh people. It is one of the challenging issues of current times. Health infrastructures and their easy access is the major problem. The total population of India is approximately 85% which amounts to more than half of the country. Most people in India come from remote villages and rural backgrounds which lack special health infrastructures and easy access to it.

Lack of awareness and affordability are other reasons for poor development in the sector of health. Many people are unaware of the different services and schemes available as a part of governmental health development programs. Also, there is a large percentage of people who are often misled by quacks and charlatans. Lack of transparency and manpower crisis in the health sector is another important challenge. Right to health in India. The entire procedure of providing health services to the public can sometimes be complicated and impeded by lack of appropriate authority and crisis of manpower. The healthcare department is directly and indirectly in the hands of public sector, private sector and non-governmental organizations. In a country like India, where the population is approximately 1.5-26 crores, a large percentage of children are affected by malnutrition. The deficiency of nutrients and vitamins is because of the lack of a healthy diet. Often children affected by a turn out to be debilitated and remain sick for the rest of their lives. Also, this country has a record of several communicable diseases such as hepatitis, malaria, AIDS etc. which are health spread between youngsters and children. The reasons for this are mainly lack of awareness and negligence. In other words, health is a basic human right and is another kind of challenge which is currently faced by a specific gender, financial health and awareness are the most concerned agendas of current times. Lack of proper sanitation is one of the most important leading cause of many health issues in India. Apart from these, the degradation of the environment is a concern. Covid-19 pandemic significantly impacted global mental health. Over 30 per cent of Indians struggle with mental health, says survey. Younger generations saw steepest decline in mental well-being.

PDEA Law College has decided to organize a One-Day State Level Seminar on 'Right to Health: Issues and Challenges' in India. The themes for the seminar are as follows:

1. Right to Health includes Mental Health: Legal Aspects in India
2. Laws Pertaining to Food Safety
3. Right to Health: Constitutional Safeguards and Role of Judiciary
4. Mental Health and Children with Disabilities
5. Contemporary relevance of Health Law
